

BODY IS IDENTIFIED

Savior of Girl Whose Body Was Found in Trunk Testifies.

Lawton, Mich., Dec. 3.—The body of a woman found in a trunk in the basement of the home of Mrs. Lester Tabor here Sunday was positively identified as that of Miss Maude Tabor, who disappeared four years ago and who was generally believed to have died while teaching in the West. The identification was made by Joseph Virgo, of South Bend, Ind., a close friend of the woman.

Virgo was on the stand most of the afternoon. He had paid ardent court to the missing woman, he said. They were about to be married when she had broken with him, he continued, given up her school in Kalamazoo and returned to the family home here. Soon after she disappeared. Inquiry of her mother, he testified, brought the assertion that Miss Tabor had gone to the West to teach and had died there. The witness said he did not believe she was dead.

Prosecuting Attorney Adams introduced witnesses in an effort to show that no members of the family were in Lawton on the day of Miss Tabor's disappearance, but the lead woman, her mother and brother.

It was said today that under the terms of his will, Frick will bequeath to the public his $30,000,000 art collection and his magnificent Fifth avenue home as a museum.

PEACE, PEACE

Don't Let It Fail.

The league has issued the following statement signed by many prominent men of different politics:

Supported in its essentials by eighty of our fifty-five senators and by the great majority of Americans, the treaty of peace has nevertheless failed to be ratified.

All the nations trusted America when the armistice was signed one year ago. And to America the other powers offered the leadership of the world.

Our recognized selfishness and deep sense of justice won a position that power alone could never have secured.

Europe looked to us to lead the way to a peace that would be more than a cessation of war. And this the men and women of America undertook to do. Not one of us but was proud of our country's part in this enterprise.

Today the world is waiting for us to act. By an agreement on mere details we can finish the splendid task we undertook. Will we fail? Will we desert those who trusted us? Forget them in the hour of their greatest need?

Some Common Ground.

Please remember, however, that we and our next door neighbors do not expect to see a treaty of peace concluded which will suit us all in every particular. But we do expect, we do insist, that you shall find some just and equitable common ground upon which we can all stand as fellow citizens and confront the world in friendliness without surrendering the liberty which has become so dear to us all as Americans.

Now that congress has convened, is the peace treaty to be wrecked or ratified?

That will depend on the spirit of 87 men, the president and the senators of the United States. If their spirit is one of co-operation and compromise the treaty will be ratified. If their spirit is one of partisanship and unyielding defiance the treaty will fail—and America will turn her back on her allies and her face toward Berlin for a new and independent treaty with Germany.

The treaty failed in the senate on November 19 because there was no spirit of compromise—and this with 89 senators voting for the treaty either with or without reservations, and but fifteen against it. In all our history that is no such shocking example of minority control. If such control can again defeat the treaty this American democracy is staggered and bound in the sight of the world—a slant in strength, bending to the tyranny of the few.

To Senators of United States. The representatives of the allied nations at Versailles drew up a treaty of peace and prepared a League of Nations to enforce it. The senate has rejected the proposition.

The matter grew into a partisan dispute and resulted in a deadlock.

The time has come to end this folly. As eighty senators favor some kind of a treaty and league with reservations, the problem should be solved immediately.

Senators of the United States, you

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Woman's power in America is well illustrated by the thousands of women who entered almost every line of business to replace men who were drafted during the war. Health proved their strongest asset. Many women, however, developed weak, nervous conditions and could not stand the strain of a business life. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for forty-five years has been restoring health and strength to the women of America.—Adv.

have one paramount duty: GET TOGETHER.

That which we won on the battlefields of France must not be lost in the arena of the senate.

We want decision. We demand this of you, that you address yourselves straightway to this business, and ratify the treaty and endorse the league with only such reservations as may be necessary to secure the co-operation of the necessary majority.

This is not an occasion for further differences or delays. It is an occasion that demands immediate results, which can be only obtained thru compromise.

The world is on fire. This is no time for contention among the firemen.

You have debated enough. There is not a thing to say that has not been said.

We call upon you to find out what you can do, and to do it.

The business interests of your country face calamity if you delay longer. The lowly multitudes of the word are threatened with famine and disorder.

The hosts of men who took arms in THE WAR TO END WAR now look to you not to rob them of the fruits of their victory.

Our comrade nations with whom we fought in blood brotherhood appeal to us to join them in a league to save the world from a worse disaster than that we have just witnessed. We must unite with them to save civilization.

We dare not fail them.

Senators, you deal with our honor, the honor of a proud nation. We dare not offend those with whom we faced death.

Our soldiers ask you not to desert their late companions-in-arms.

Every mother prays you not to deny your assistance to any plan that will save the world from another war.

which if it come, as come it surely will, unless the old order be done away with, will certainly eclipse the horrors of all past wars.

Shall America thwart the federation of the world, which means the Americanization of the world?

We ask you, senators, to ACT. To accomplish you may have to bend a little; but accomplish you must. You stand in the doubtful ridges of the refused. Payne and Martin agreed to do this before the case is called in district court in January. Payne is a young man who wears the cross de guerre for distinguished service in France, and who claims recently to have married the daughter of a Tulsa oil magnate.

MAJOR CLARKE TO MINES

Overseas Veteran Will Lead Company of "Gold Chevron Legion."

Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 3.—The "Gold Chevron Legion" is being organized here under Maj. Samuel G. Clarke, veteran national guard officer and former major of the 139th infantry, for duty in the Kansas coal mines. Major Clarke was requested by Adj. Gen. C. I. Martin, of Kansas, to organize a company of seventy-five men in Lawrence, who "had seen service overseas." These men will be released from military obligation at the conclusion of the coal strike. Major Clarke, still feeling six machine gun bullets which he stopped in the Argentine forest, has consented to command a company "or man a shovel," whichever the case may demand.

FACE NUMEROUS CHARGES

Threshermen Burned Wheat to Get Insurance, State Says.

Coldwater, Kan., Dec. 3.—Facing charges of arson mixed with white slavery and statutory rape, Harry Pyle and Albert Oler were placed on trial in district court here yesterday.

The state is prosecuting the men for the alleged burning of $1,200 worth of wheat, insured for $7,500, and for white slavery and rape.

The wheat was burned in August. L. T. Hussey, state fire marshal, says that evidence has been secured implicating them in a plot to destroy the wheat. A woman cooking for a threshing outfit owned by the men, has confessed to having improper relations with both, and of forcing her 14-year-old daughter to submit to Oler.
